Gratto of Jewett city was just pulling out from the curbing when one of the Hartford-Willimantic Blue Line jitneys, driven by Aiden Bailey of Hartford, came from the east and hooked bumper with that of the Gratto car. Both cars were somewhat damaged. Mr. Gratto did not put out his hand as a warning signal but had his foot on the brake which caused him to stop. Another car was coming down Main street which gave the Blue Line jitney no room to turn out and not having seen the stop light sign he continued on. Each man blamed the other for the accident. They reported the matter to the police and as they could come to no settlement they were told to appear in court this (Thursday) morning.

White is especially recommended for the hands and arms. Since short sleeves are in vogue, it is necessary to have your hands and arms looking their best, and a trial of Derwillo for this purpose will astonish you. Remember, it stays on so much better than powder and does not come off on clothing. It is "just the thing" to use in beautifying your hands and arms. will not abide by decision of U.S. R.R. Labor Board and have left their work

PRESIDENT HARDING says of those who take their places:

"To maintain operation of the railroads in interstate commerce and the transportation of United States mails have necessitated the employment of men who choose to accept employment under the terms of the decision and who have the same indisputable right to work that others have to decline work."

THE U. S. R. R. LABOR BOARD, an impartial body created by Congress, says of such men:

"...that they are not strikebreakers seeking to impose the arbitrary will of an employer on employees; that they have the moral as well as the legal right to engage in such service of the American public to avoid interruption of indispensable railway transportation, and that they are entitled to the protection of every department and branch of the Government, State and National."

It is understood assurances have been broadcasted by strikers that they will return with all seniority rating and previous privileges enjoyed. Let there be no misunderstanding about this: No man who has left our service on strike will be re-employed except as a new man, it re-employed at all, and no qualified man now or hereafter employed, who desires to remain in our service, will be displaced to make room for returning strikers.

ANNOUNCEMENTS

Two Fine Features at Strand Beginning Today.

Constance Talmadge in Woman's Place, declares the brightest and liveliest vehicles yet given to that popular star, will be the feature offering at the Strand theatre for as management of three days, commencing today.

Woman's Place is a John Emerson-Anita Loos story, written especially for Miss Talmadge, and she is said to have a part admirably suited to her talents.

Josephine Darrow, a pretty young society girl, played by Constance Talmadge, is the heroine of the story. On her return from Paris she is put up by the Woman's Political League as a candidate for mayor of the town in an effort to clean up crooked politics.

Kenneth Harlan is Constance Talmadge's leading man, and others prominent in the supporting cast are Hassard Short, Florence Barker, Ina Korka, Marguerite Linden and Jack Connolly.

Woman's Place was produced under the direction of Victor Fleming. It is a First National production.

The second feature attraction is Gladys Walton in Second Hand Rose. The popular song hit suggested a story to A. P. Young, author of the story, and writer. All the parables of the story is said to have been fully retained in the telling of the story as a vehicle for Gladys Walton.

It is not a flapper comedy drama, but a real dramatic picture. Miss Walton's role carries with it plenty of opportunity for her to display her wistful appeal.

Jack Dougherty, Edward Sutherland, Walter Perry, Max Davidson, Grace Marvin, George Egan, Ina Korka, Adair, Camilla Clark, Marion Paduchas and Wade Boteler are among the supporting players.

Second hand clothes, second hand rings, second hand pleasures—these things summed up the composed life of Second Hand Rose, the pathetic girl of the songs. She couldn't have anything brand new.

A Seiznick News completed the program.

Breed Theatre

An interesting story based on the novel "Salvage" and entitled "Lucky Carson" is the feature at the Breed theatre today. It is a story by Earle Williams is starred, and it furnishes this actor a role in which he did some real dramatic work. He first appears as a down-and-out. After having made a fortune on a race track, and dropped it there, he is seen on the docks of London ready to start it all in the cold black waters of the Thames.

Then he changes his mind and starts afresh. An accident in a London fog opens up the way for a new life in America. He arrives in New York, scrapes up an acquaintance with a stand-by, who is down and out, following the lead of this worthy, he picks up another fortune on the race track. This time he saves his money and plunges into the cotton market, cornering cotton. Then a page of his past life is opened again, and the man who had wronged when he left England becomes his enemy. Carson tries to make up for the past, but the man whose sole desire is an eye for an eye and a tooth for a tooth, demands his pound of flesh. A charming love story is interwoven in the plot.

Other pictures on the bill include "The Leather Pushers," "Movie Chats" and a cartoon.
